GEORGETOWN HOLDS LIGHT PRACTICE, SO STIFF ARE PLAYERS

Blue and Gray Athletes Welcome Respite Following Carlisle Indian Struggle.

WEST POINT OFFERS NEXT HARD BATTLE

Greer, Quinlan, and Bergen Show Possibilities as Varsity Players Saturday.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Light practice is on for today at Georgetown, Coach Neilsen realizing the generally sore and stiffened state of the players who went through that Cariisle Indian game Saturday. Though none was really hurt, all were put to the test, and welcome the day's respite from hard work. Costello, Magner, Fury, and Quinlan are slightly lame from the hammering they received from the Indians, but all will be ready fo

Next Saturday comes Georgetown's first game away from the Hilltop, Richmond College being met in the Virginia capital. This game should not cause the Blue and Gray supporters any real anxiety. It should make just a good workout for the eleven, which, tw weeks later, will run up against the powerful West Point aggregation.

Three weeks now intervene before Georgetown lines up on the gridiron be side the Hudson. The Army team is coming fast, and by that time will be one of the hardest teams in the East to face. The Blue and Gray team will need its very best brand of football to respectable showing agains

That Greer is not out of the running for a place in the middle of the line. was shown against the Indians. It was Blue and Gray's lone score, He was through his opponent like a flash, blocking the kick and making it possible for Hart, also through the line, to seize the pigskin and carry it over the line for a touchodwn.

Carlisle showed itself a powerful team, sure to cause trouble at Cambridge and Philadelphia. The Indians are pop ular at Harvard, always bringing out a large crowd of anthusiastic supporters. With the team as put on the field here against Georgetown, Glenn Warner against Georgetown, Glenn Warner tands a good chance of giving the beefy Harvard eleven a stiff fight.

The gridiron season is waxing hotter and hotter. Next Saturday Pennsylvania, already scored on by smaller teams, will face the powerful Browfi eleven from Providence, R. I. This team has done excellent work since the season opened. Not only has it a strong backfield, one of the best in the country, but its forwards have displayed marvelous strength and quickness in every game.

Thorpe, Carlisle's running halfback, knows all the inside tricks of stiff-arming an opposing tackle. He had no trouble circling Hegarty Saturday, spinning him off his feet several times in plain view of the stands.

Holy Cross showed very poor spirit in leaving the field at Hanover, N. H., thus forfeiting the game, and it is very unlikely that the Worcester eleven will get another date with Dartmouth.

West Point starts its really hard battles against Yale, perhaps the best allaround eleven in the East. Great interest will be manifested here in the outcome of this game, for the Government school has more or the Government school has been expected. Many Washington supporters of the midshipmen will make the short trip to Maryland's capital to see this game. With Georgetown playing at Richmond, the Navy-Princeton game will be the best in this section.

Lehigh, which has many followers here, meets Ursinus this week. The latter gave the Quakers a hard fight before yielding, and played very good football. They may surprise Lehigh, despite the latter's record of tleing Princeton.

Yale Plans Revenge On West Point Team

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16 .- Part of the work laid out for the Yale football eleven of this season is to wreak vengeance for the loss of prestige Yale suffered at the hands of teams a year ago. Brown and West Point are especially due for the attention of the Eli playing combination of 1911, for the reason that they were the only teams to defeat the Yale has been getting ready for the West Point game with the painstaking thoroughness and care that generally marks the preparation for only a Harvard or a Princeton contest. The Yale eleven is being developed earlier this year than for many seasons in order that the West Point and Brown defeats of last year may be wiped off the map. No Yale team has been as perfect a playing machine by mid-October in years as is the present.

Yale has been slow to disclose its strategy, but the secret practice which has been resorted to at intervals for ten days will furnish plays which will be seen for the first time next Saturday in the match with Army.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

Billy Howe, Yale's crew man on the football eleven, took the ball and ran ninety yards through the entire V. P. I. eleven Saturday for a touchdown. He showed all the speed of a track man. The tackling of Bergen, substitute end

As soon as O'Rourke and Munns, the Cornell guards, left the line-up, Penn State commenced hammering their sub-stitutes for long gains. The defeat of the Ithacans was most unexpected.

Greer showed plenty of strength while working in the Georgetown line, and deserves a place on the varsity. It was his good work in blocking Thorpe's attempted punt that resulted in George-town's only score. "Tol" Pendleton, Princeton's star run-ning back, came through with another of his long jaunts down the field against

Colgate. Catching a punt on the goal line, he galloped over for a touchdown. Carlisle's double pass, a sort of old-fashioned criss-cross, gave the Indians many yards at Georgetown's expense. Burd generally took the ball, though sometimes Newashe was the man to get

Though wholly outclassed, Virginia Polytechnic threw a fright into Yale when Derby carried the ball to the Ells' 30-yard line, tried twice for field goals, and retained the ball after each try, though the Blue forwards blocked the Quinlan, going into the game in the last period, showed amazing ability to gain ground for Georgetown through the Indian tackle positions. Most of the gains were made by him.

If White could distribute about twenty-five or thirty pounds of his weight among the other three youngsters in the Blue and Gray backfield, the quartet would do better work. Magner is too light and Costello is too fragile. Fury fights hard, but can't do everything. White is too heavy, and falls to get into the interference with the other lighter and faster lads.

Carlisle Leads All With Points Scored

The Carlisle Indians are leading in total points scored. They nearly always do at this time of the year. They go at a slambang rate from first to last. They begin to take on big teams soon, now on will do his best to whip the players into shape. The contrast in thysical condition between the Indians and the Hillitoppers was plain to be seen Saturday and was as much the reason for Georgetown's poor showing as anything else.

Coach Nelisen faces the task of forming a spritceable interference for the runner, too. Carlisle's strength in this respect was wonderful, the runner emerging from the scrimmage with airways one or two men ahead of him. This strong interference, coupled Gray, ends and secondary defense men, brought long gains for the visitors.

Beginning tomorrow the practice at the Hilliop will be fast and furious. It is very likely that changes will take place in the line-up of the Blue and Gray eleven. Saturday's game showed and excondary defense men, of the control of the strong runner on plays outside of tackle, making many of Georgetown's gains in the final perfod.

Cornell's Captain May Not Play Again

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 16.-Instead of being disheartened by the defeat at the C: Time of periods-10 minutes. hands of Pennsylvania State Saturday supporters of the Cornell football team are confident that within the next at Georgetown, toward the close of the Indian game has not been bettered on the Hilltop this year. Saturday's game a good many of the best players were out because of injuries, and that the team has not yet reached anything like good football

The coaches, however, were somewhat disgruntled at the poor work of some of the men, and a hard program, as well as a series of shifts, is promised for this week. Changes in the line-up for this week. Changes in the line-up may be made.

The game cost Cornell the services of Capt. W. M. Monk, left tackle, who was so badly banged that it is certain that he cannot play for two weeks, and may not be able to get into the line-up in a month. Monk was hurt in the fire period, but pluckily persisted in sticking until the third, when he was removed from the game. He is one of the oldest and most experienced players in the Cornell line, and his absence cannot help but be missed.

Track Athletes to Have Bible Study

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16 .- Dick Grant, coach of track athletics at the University of Minnesota, will form a Bible study class among his fleet-footed proteges. Grant believes that by combining the preachments of the testaments with the scientific principles of physical training, he can turn out a winning team at the university.

Social reform also will be taught the ack starts by their coach, who has announced his intention of resuming all university dances that were inaugurated at the university last year as a counter attraction to the public dance halls of Minneapolis. The Bible classes will meet once a week during the luncheon hour, and another hour each week will be taken up with a lecture by the coach on training and personal hygiene.

"A man who has led a pure, clean, Christian life will be the best able," said Coach Grant today. "The study of highest themes of individual life gives a great fraternal spirit and this is absolutely necessary in a winning team."

Harvard Oarsmen Must Know How to Swim

BOSTON, Oct. 16.-The Harvard athletic committee has made a new regulation regarding the use of the rowing shells at the college boathouse, which is expected to prevent any recurrence of the fatality of last year when a student was drowned because he could not swim. Under the new rule every student must get a signed statement from his parents or gurdian that he can swim before being allowed on the river.

There has long been a rule at both of the college beathouses that man must There has long been a rule at both of the college boathouses that a man must be able to swim, and sign a statement to that effect before entering a shell, but many students who could not swim took advantage of this rule and rowed.
